

Handwritten text in a cursive script on aged, brown paper. The text is densely packed and spans the width of the page. The script is highly stylized and difficult to decipher, but appears to be a form of Indic or Southeast Asian script. The paper shows signs of wear, including creases and discoloration.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Pahlavi or Avestan, inscribed on a rectangular, aged, brownish parchment or leather fragment. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines, written in a dark ink. The script is highly stylized and cursive, with many characters appearing as loops and curves. The parchment shows signs of significant wear, including discoloration, staining, and some loss of material, particularly at the corners and along the edges. The overall appearance is that of an ancient manuscript fragment.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Pāli, inscribed on a piece of aged, textured paper. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines, written in dark ink. The script is highly stylized and cursive, characteristic of early South Asian writing systems. The paper shows signs of significant age, including discoloration and some surface wear.
