

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Pahlavi or Avestan, on a fragment of aged parchment. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines, with some characters appearing to be organized into columns or groups. The script is highly stylized and difficult to decipher without specialized knowledge. The parchment is heavily aged, showing significant discoloration and wear, particularly at the edges.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Cuneiform, arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the length of the fragment. The characters are dark and densely packed, with some larger characters that may represent specific words or symbols. The script is consistent throughout the fragment, suggesting a single source or scribe.

Small handwritten mark or characters in the upper left corner of the fragment.

Small handwritten mark or characters in the middle left margin of the fragment.

Small handwritten mark or characters in the lower left margin of the fragment.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Cuneiform, arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the length of the fragment. The characters are dark and densely packed, with some larger characters that may represent specific words or symbols. The script is consistent throughout the fragment, suggesting a single source or scribe.

Small vertical inscription or mark on the left edge of the fragment.

Small vertical mark or character on the left edge of the fragment.

Small vertical mark or character on the left edge of the fragment.

