

British Library

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Khmer, on a piece of aged, brown paper. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. Several lines begin with a red ink character, possibly a section marker or a religious symbol. The script is dense and cursive, characteristic of historical Southeast Asian manuscripts. The paper shows signs of significant age, including discoloration and some physical wear.

Handwritten text on the left margin, possibly a page number or reference.

Main body of handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Burmese. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines. Several words are written in red ink, serving as section markers or emphasis. The script is dense and characteristic of traditional Burmese manuscripts.

Vertical text on the left margin, likely a page number or reference.

Main body of handwritten text in an ancient script, possibly Burmese or Thai, with several lines of text. Some words are written in red ink, likely indicating titles or important terms.