

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Cuneiform, on a fragment of aged, brownish parchment or leather. The text is arranged in several horizontal lines, though the characters are highly stylized and difficult to decipher. The fragment is irregularly shaped with frayed edges.

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely cuneiform or a similar early writing system, inscribed on a long, narrow, and heavily aged, brownish parchment or leather strip. The text is arranged in several horizontal lines, though the characters are difficult to decipher due to the extreme age and wear of the material. The strip shows significant signs of deterioration, including discoloration, staining, and irregular edges.

Fragment of an ancient papyrus scroll with several lines of handwritten text in a cursive script, likely from the Dead Sea Scrolls. The text is written in dark ink on aged, yellowish-brown papyrus. The script is dense and difficult to decipher, but some words are clearly legible, including "יהוה" (YHWH) and "אלהים" (Elohim). The fragment is rectangular with irregular, worn edges.